

Dr. Zayna Khayat

Speaker Spotlight

Dr. Khayat believes in making health care better for everyone. She focuses on reimagining the way we work by looking critically at the paradigms we work within and the systems of care that are created from unchallenged assumptions.

She is passionate about recreating health care systems and services that are more equitable and that truly meet the needs of the people who are using them.

Zayna Khayat is the in-house health futurist with Deloitte Canada's Health Care and Life Sciences practice. She is also adjunct faculty in the Health Sector Strategy stream at the Rotman School of Management at the University of Toronto and co-author of a new book called The Future of Aging.

Join us on May 31 and June 1, 2024 to reimagine the future of aging. Innovation for the future of aging will include new policies, services, products, technologies, living spaces, built environments, and approaches to shape inter-generational communities—all of which will be transformative for the lives of older adults. The potential societal and economic returns from innovation for the future of aging are immense. It's time to redefine what it means to age.

Register today! Early bird deadline Apr 12, 2024
